CANNON ROAR AT RENSBURG

A Fierce Artillery Duel in Which the British Are Successful.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire. RENSBURG, Cape Colony, Tuesday, Jan. 16.—The Boers opened an artillery duel this morning, using a Captured British fifteen-pounder which the British gunners ultimately silenced. The British kept up a searching fire all day long on the Boer positions, and also dragged up another gun to the summit of Kolskop.

NO NEWS YET OF BULLER'S MOVEMENTS.

LONDON, Jan. 17, 2:30 P. M.—Public anxiety regarding the advance on Ladysmith remains unquenched, and the various rumors that a general engagement is progressing, purporting to emanate from Durban and Pietermaritzburg, are based solely on the belief that General Buller's arrangements to advance would be completed Monday or Tuesday at the latest. The War Office this afternoon posted this notice:

NO CONTRABAND OF WAR FOUND ON BUNDESRATH

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire. BERLIN, Jan. 17.—An official telegram from London says the British government has decided that now the inquiry into the seizure of the Bundesrath is concluded her release may be expected immediately and a satisfactory settlement of the outstanding difficulties may be expected as certain.

METHUEN'S MEN IN A BLOODLESS ENGAGEMENT.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire. MODDER RIVER, Cape Colony, Jan. 17.—There was a demonstration in force against General Methuen yesterday, a division being engaged, with the object of ascertaining the strength and disposition of the Boer force and also in order to try to draw the Boers from Kimberley, where lately they have been active.

Faith With the Annexed People Must Be Kept.

Congressman Metcalf Doing Good Work in Washington

Congressman Metcalf has been making an effort in Washington to enable the residents in the annexed district to enjoy some of the benefits of life in a metropolis, such as were promised to them during the annexation campaign, and one of those accommodations was the free delivery of mail at the homes of the residents of the district.

As soon as the annexation of the section took place, Mayor Snow and Postmaster Friend went to work to enable the people in the new territory to enjoy the advantages promised, but little could be done because, at the time, the conditions precedent to the extension of the carrier service had not been complied with.

These conditions of the Postoffice Department required the naming, signing and numbering of the streets in the territory referred to.

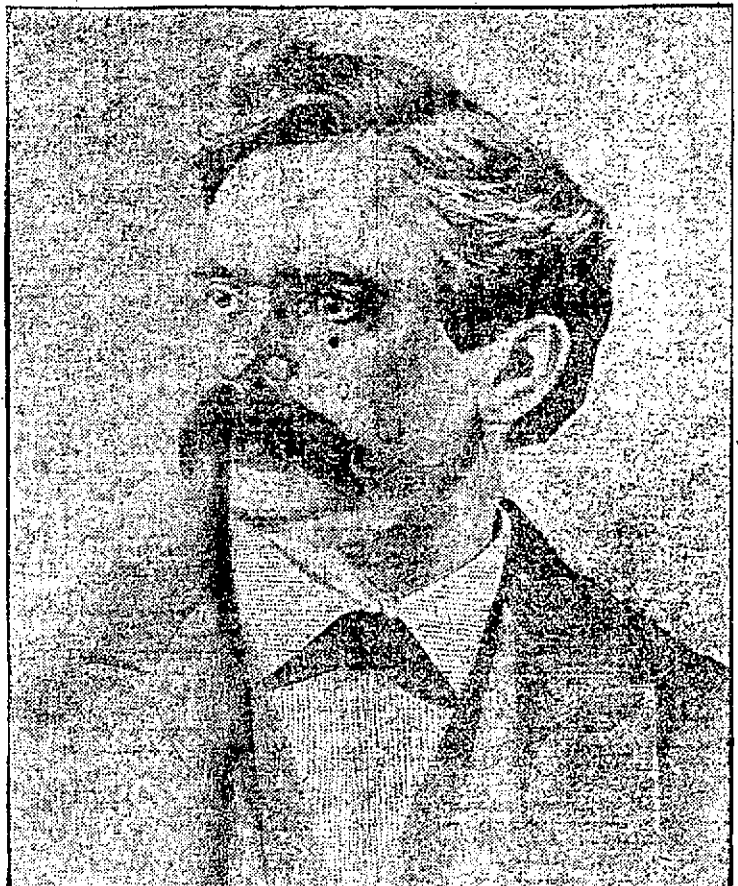

The naming and numbering have now been done, and Mr. Metcalf has been officially informed of the fact. Shortly after Mr. Metcalf went to Washington he made inquiries as to the possibility of securing the immediate introduction of the free-delivery system of mail into the new territory, but was informed that that could scarcely be done, because of the scarcity of funds, and that in all probability a delay would have to take place until the next fiscal year, which will begin in July of this year.

THE WOMAN'S CLUBS.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 17.—At the meeting of the Federation of Woman's Clubs at Eben Hall today, Mrs. Robert Burdette, president, Mrs. Anella W. Truesdell, speaker of the Pacific Coast Woman's Press Association, and Mrs. Longworth of San Diego spoke of composite federation. Mrs. J. Longworth spoke of the unsolved problems of the labor question.

WELDON REPLACES SLOAN.

The Committee Reports Against the Gentleman From Utah.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The special committee of the House of Representatives to investigate the case of Brigham H. Roberts of Utah today reached a final conclusion. On the polygamous status of Mr. Roberts the committee was unanimous and agreed upon a formal statement of facts. On the question of procedure to be adopted the committee was divided.

The majority, consisting of all the members except Littlefield of Maine and De Armond of Missouri favored exclusion at the outset. Littlefield and De Armond will make a minority report favorable to sealing Roberts on his prima facie rights and then expelling him. The statement of facts found by the committee is as follows:

CATHOLICS FEARS FRIER'S RETURN.

The Filipinos Think They Are Backed Up By M'Kinley.

MANILA, Jan. 17, 7:05 P. M.—The presence here of Archbishop Chapelle, the apostolic delegate to the Philippines, is greatly affecting the minds of the Filipinos. The Filipinos have gained the impression that Mr. Chapelle is the joint agent of President McKinley and the Pope to restore the status quo in the Philippines. One cause of the excitement is a statement which the Dominicans furnished to the Spanish press, that Mr. Chapelle, in visiting the heads of the orders, told them he favored the retention of the brotherhoods, and President McKinley shared the views, which were that if the friars returned to their parishes they would be considered elements of good order, and therefore American agents.

Mr. Chapelle denies the accuracy of these statements, and Catholics of all sections are petitioning the Philippine Major-General Oles against the friars returning to their parishes, repeating the charges of oppression, cruelty and immorality. The Filipinos request that they be given priests not connected with the brotherhoods. Delegations from many of the towns are visiting the provincial Governor for the purpose of making the same request, and prominent Manila Catholics are calling the Pope on the subject. The people say the friars will be driven out if they return to their parishes, and there will be continual trouble if the Administration attempts to protect them.

To quell the excitement, Major-General Oles consented to the publication in the local newspapers of a statement which he had made to a delegation of Filipinos, as follows:

"If the church authorities assign friars to parishes who are obnoxious to the people they will not be compelled to accept them. The individual liberty guaranteed by the American constitution will not be denied the Filipinos, and the government will not force on them any ecclesiastical discrimination contrary to their wishes."

POSTOFFICE TO KEEP OPEN

Adventists Arraign Christian Endeavorers and Rev. N. R. Johnston.

Editor TRIBUNE: I see by your issue of Tuesday evening that Rev. N. R. Johnston is still fearful that the natural right of Seventh-day Adventists to speak in common with other people will be recognized by the public. It seems to be almost essential to his well-being that he give at least an annual expression to this dread, no matter how far out of his way he may have to go in order to gender the opportunity. The agitation of the question of closing the postoffice on Sunday is his pretext this time.

Why this special fear of what this particular people might say is the matter? Is it because of the potent influence they might wield in case of an opinion adverse to Mr. Johnston? Is it because of any manifest attitude of Seventh Day Adventists against the right of anyone to rest on Sunday who wishes to do so? Surely, this people never have assumed any such position. Oh, no; it is the so-called national reform spirit that assumes to dictate what people shall or shall not do on Sunday.

Mr. Johnston says the question is one of "right and privilege." Now that is the idea exactly, and why does he not stick to it? Everything connected with civil government is a question of right and privilege; but when it comes to expressing an opinion on questions being discussed in the community, Seventh-day Adventists must not exercise their right and privilege. I quote a paragraph from Mr. Johnston's quasi dictum:

"If Postmaster Friend and the Christian Endeavorers under the leadership of President Lyon wish to give one rest day out of seven to the employees of the Post Office, we hope the Seventh-day Adventists will not be over anxious to mingle in the fight."

Now when and how did it become the special privilege of the Christian Endeavorers to "give" a rest day to the employees of the Post Office? I had supposed that Postmaster Friend had that matter in charge, and that if he wished to close the office on Sunday, or on any part of the day, he had the power to do so, of his own volition; or, if he did not have the power in himself, he would have to resort to the Post Office Department. Granting that Endeavorers have the right to petition him in regard to the matter, I had no idea that they had any more right than others; but Mr. Johnston would imply that they share with the Postmaster the prerogative of giving a rest day to employees of the office.

I do not say that the Endeavorers assume this position; I refer simply to Mr. Johnston's attitude as expressed in THE TRIBUNE. He seems to assume the position of monitor in the community, dictating who shall "mingle in the fight," especially during the Seventh-day Adventists' fast, and judging by the tone of his article, he even aspires to be referee. But the characteristic "National Reform" spirit, which appears to be innate in him, is shown in the usual slur at "the few":

"Why should the few who wish to receive mail matter on that day demand that the office be kept open for their supposed benefit?"

That contemptible "few" have no rights that the many—including Mr. Johnston, of course—are bound to respect. But he ought not to worry over the "few" Seventh-day Adventists, for they have not demanded that the postoffice be open on Sunday. They have said nothing in a public way on the subject, only when interviewed by a reporter, and Mr. Johnston has not objected to the expression of opinion on the part of others when interviewed. Yet Seventh-day Adventists do believe that "all men are created equal," regardless of numbers, in the matter of holding and expressing opinion.

Another expression is especially striking in this connection, coming from one who claims to be a Christian. He says: "And what a morally sublime sight it would be to see the great army of governmental laborers join together as conscientious Christians in a great strike, and dissolve their sinful relations with the Sabbath-breaking department, unless the Government, the employer, would permit them to rest according to the commandment."

MYSTERY OF WOMAN WHO DAZZLED TWO CONTINENTS.

Beautiful Vera Douglas Went to Europe to Become the Plaything of a Grand Duke.

PARIS, Jan. 17.—The mystery of the origin of Vera Douglas, the famous American beauty, once of New York, who died here at Christmas, abandoned by her Grand Duke and all her rich admirers save one, has been cleared up at last.

Her real name was Vera Maria Douglas. She had married an adventurer who called himself Malakoff, and who is now in jail at Algiers. Her parents fondly believed her to be a real Countess and a person of consideration in London and Paris society. Their letters were directed to "Mme. La Comtesse Malakoff."

It was ascertained, after much difficulty, that her father was Stephen Douglas, a farmer at Mitchell, Ontario, and this cable was sent to find him:

"Mrs. Malakoff died here today. Can you identify her? Else all property will be seized by State."

On December 28th came the answer:

"Mrs. Malakoff is my daughter, Maria Douglas. Am writing."

There was evidence that these simple people, not knowing that the daughter's triumphs were of the underworld, were about to leave their home for Paris, expecting to see the Disposition under the most brilliant auspices. If the unhappy girl had not been seized with the mania that ended her immortal prototype, Camille, they might have enjoyed their lives in the shadow of a Grand Duke of Russia.

Here is a letter Vera wrote to the Grand Duke Vladimir when he was here five weeks ago:

"It was at this season last year that we loved each other so much."

"Do you remember the crowds that lived up when we came out of the opera? Do you remember Monte Carlo, the Riviera, the sweet moonlit nights on our dear yacht only one year ago?"

"Come and see whether you can recognize me. I am so constantly ill now that sometimes as tonight, for example—I feel discouraged."

"But I shall get well, and then I'll go back to my country and be good. Meanwhile come and comfort your poor Vera."

This Highness did not accept the dying woman's invitation. She herself did not know who was dying, but others did.

Vera Douglas' exploits in life haunted her after death, for her body was deemed not sufficiently respectable to be given sanctuary in the American church. Members of Dr. Morgan's congregation protested against it.

The correspondent, after discovering her identity, notified Bodington & Kelly, of 6 Boulevard des Capucines, a firm of English attorneys who acted for R. H. Henning, a rich Australian living in London.

Henning, while he was not with Vera Douglas in her last days, exhibited more identity than her other admirers. He was really fond of her, and was in the habit of coming to Paris to see her every month or so. On learning that her parents had been discovered, he sent $500 to his attorneys here to insure respect for her body pending the decision of her relatives.

The Rev. Dr. Morgan, pastor of the American church in Paris, lent himself at first to these arrangements, fully knowing the melancholy history of the dead girl. Bodington & Kelly say that he consented to allow the body to remain in the mortuary for a month in consideration of an advance payment of 500 francs.

Timber, accordingly, it was taken; but instead of the treatment contemplated by Dr. Henning, it was thrust into a rough pine box and put aside.

The Rev. Dr. Morgan told the correspondent, in answer to an inquiry, that unless the body were taken away at once it would be turned over to the administration of public charity to be buried in a pauper's grave or else find its way to the dissecting table.

It was impossible to discover what had become of her own resources. There is everything to show that she was well to do. Her jewels were famous. Men of celebrity had showered her with gifts. Stockbrokers had speculated for her and won. It was known that from time to time, in her careless way, she had bought railway and mining securities.

Such jewels and other effects as could be found are now under the seals of the State, pending the arrival of relatives.

FRANCE GETS SATISFACTION

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire. PARIS, Jan. 17.—The French government expressed itself pleased with the settlement of the Santo Domingo trouble, which, according to a telegram from Admiral Roussin, was a complete victory for France. Santo Domingo, undertaking to pay the indemnity demanded, a French minister to make a public declaration that no affront was ever intended for France, and the foreign minister to write to the French government expressing the respect and admiration of the anti-French demonstrations. The officials of the Foreign Office here deny that there is any question of the result of the French minister at Santo Domingo.

STOLE ENGINE IN INSTALLMENTS

William Purves Accused of Stealing For Five Years.

It is quite a new thing in criminal history for a thief to steal an engine locomotive, but that is what the accused William E. Purves, a railroad employee, who was arrested last evening for public drunkenness, is charged with.

For several months P. E. Maloney, the Southern Pacific detective, and Deputy Constable Jack Robinson have been investigating the thefts, and recently their suspicion was directed toward Purves, who lived with his young wife in East Oakland.

Later they found that the stolen engine had been divided at an East Oakland junk shop, and last evening Purves was placed under arrest. He admitted his guilt to Patrolman Hamerton, who is at present doing special detective duty.

It is claimed that, besides the locomotive, Purves stole about four sacks of tobacco from a box car, Purves claims, and sold the tobacco for one-fourth its market price, but says it was given to him. It is also claimed that other trusted employees have been guilty of pilferage at the railroad yards, and more arrests may follow.

Maloney, in obtaining his sister's consent to the marriage, said she would obtain that of her father, Maloney, however, cut the matter short, and brought his innumerable to this city last night and, about 10 o'clock, a marriage license was issued.

Justice. Larue was found in a lodge room. He took the couple to his home and the two left there a few minutes after husband and wife.

THE DEWEY WAR
DRAMA A SUCCESS.

Another large audience witnessed the production of "The Red, White and Blue" at the Dewey last night. The play is one of the best of the war dramas, and Manager Stevens has secured no pains or pains in the most elaborate and effective manner. The great battle scenes are given with startling vividness, and the additional force of realism is added to the performance by the presence on the stage of seventy-five members of Company A, N. G. C., who participate in the battle scenes with absolute realism. There is an excellent view of complicity pervading the play, as well as a pretend love story, and the performance is one of the best ever given at the Dewey.

FOUGHT FOR THE RIGHT TO BE A BRIDE.

Young Girl Made a Hard Battle to Get Married.

Came to Oakland and the Nuptial Knot Was Tied
at Midnight.

Kitty Allen of San Francisco, aged 18 years, was married to Gustave Diesel at the home of Justice Larue last night under peculiar circumstances.

She had to fight for the right to wed, her sister, a Mrs. Mack, who resides at twenty-eight and Kentucky streets, San Francisco, being the contestant.

Miss Allen has been making her home at her sister's place and affairs between them were an agreeable nature until Kitty informed Mrs. Mack that she was going to wed Gustave Diesel, a riveter in the Union Iron Works. Mrs. Mack objected to the marriage. A fight took place. Kitty blacked the eye of Mrs.
Mack and was arrested. Her case was called in the Police Court in San Francisco yesterday but was continued till this morning owing to the absence of Mrs. Mack.

Decided in obtaining her sister's consent to the marriage, Kitty said she would obtain that of her father, Diesel, however, cut the matter short, and brought his innumerable to this city last

I WANT THE IMPROVEMENT OF HARBOR.

Resolutions on the Subject.

Wider and Deeper Harbors Demanded by the Board.

The building of the tidal canal connecting Oakland harbor and San Leandro Bay, which seems to be now all that may be done out of the remaining portion of the appropriation for the completion of Oakland harbor will not satisfy the mechanics, manufacturers and capitalists of this city. Beyond the work already done and that which yet remains to be done, the harbor from the bay of San Francisco to the proposed tidal canal must be widened to 600 feet and given a depth of thirty feet, thus enabling the largest steaming vessels to enter the harbor without being lightered, and turning around after discharging, thus avoiding the necessity of being towed out of the harbor stern foremost.

Action in this respect was taken last night at a meeting of the Harbor Committee of the Board of Trade, and a number of well-known citizens, among whom were present, Wilson F. Adams, L. J.
Barry, D. Edward Collins, Sol Kahn, J.
H. Johnson, J. Hay, E. C. Sessions, Gies H. Gray, J. L. Corvick, H. D. Larue, A. B.
Nye, W. Watkins, J. J. Reed and others.

A lengthy discussion of the following resolutions was finally adopted:

"Resolved, That in the judgment of this meeting of citizens of Oakland, and in accordance with the suggestion of the Harbor Committee of the Board of Trade, and a number of the Board of Trade to consider the progress of Government work for harbor improvement, the following action ought to be taken:

"The President of the Board of Trade should be requested to telegraph to Senator Stanford and Congressman McQuinn inquiring whether the Chief Engineer has given any decided reply to the request that a portion of the available appropriation shall be used for dredging a channel extending from the Webster street bridge for the protection and preservation of the work already done, and also, if no such reply has been received, that the Senator and Congressman be asked to urge the said Chief Engineer to give a decided reply as early as possible."

"That the President of the Board of Trade should be requested to address Senator Stanford and Congressman McQuinn by telegraph, inquiring whether any steps have been taken in the direction of securing appropriations on a scale of work for the deepening widening of the channel of Oakland harbor, and such improvement as may seem to be in the interest of the city."

"That this meeting is of the opinion that the times of action proposed at the meeting held November 16th were the proper ones and that we hereby request and urge our representatives in Congress and the Senate to take prompt action in the direction of securing the results desired, and furthermore, that we invite the co-operation of all public spirit citizens and of the newspaper press in the movement for the advancement of the commercial interests of the city."

"This matter was discussed by Warren C. Brown, J. H. Johnson, J. J. Reed, J. H.
Johnson, D. B. Collins, M. J. Koller and J. F. Towle.

There was some more discussion and finally the resolution above published was presented by a committee consisting of Messrs. Barry, Sessions and Koller.
The meeting then adjourned.

STORY OF A MAN WHO WAS AN ALL NIGHTER

Fooled His Wife and Now He Must Pay
Alimony.

George F. Paye Must Pay For Deceiving His Wife.

George F. Paye packed his trunk, told his wife he was going on a long trip to foreign land, and then wound up in the divorce court of this county.

From this time on he will pay Mrs. Adams $5 a month alimony, for the woman has secured a divorce on the ground of desertion.

A peculiar circumstance is connected with the case. The couple were married in 1891. For four years they lived happily together, there having been no friction to mar their domestic tranquility.
The husband was away from home great deal on account of his business, being a traveling salesman.

One day during the latter part of 1898 the husband informed his wife that his business would call him to Australia for a short time. She made no objection to his leaving her temporarily in the interest of his calling, so his trunk was packed and he left, as his wife supposed, to take a steamer for Australia.

Not long after Paye's supposed departure Mrs. Adams discovered the fact that her husband had deceived her and had not left the city at all. Instead he had taken up his residence with his sister in this city. Mrs. Adams wrote her husband a letter demanding an explanation of his conduct. In reply she received a curt note telling her that her husband had tried to tell her that she could begin proceedings for a divorce if she wished on any grounds. Mrs. Adams accepted the proposition so coolly offered and began proceedings for a legal separation.

Husband made no appearance in the action and the case was heard before Court Commissioner George Babcock. The decision was signed by Judge Ellsworth this morning. Paye had been paying his wife $5 a month for her support prior to the commencement of the divorce proceedings and agreed to continue the payments. There are no children nor community interests.

A Coffee Fact!!

Many Highly Organized
People

Are definitely and distinctively Diseased by Coffee

Try a Personal Test on Yourself

Not with all people, but with many, particularly those that are highly organized—brain workers and their kind—the subtle ailments, emanated in ordinary coffee, have a direct action upon the delicate nerves of the stomach and by a pathological law the nervous system is gradually and surely affected.

The result will show in a variety of ways, such as headaches in some people; in others, bowel complications; in others, kidney trouble; in others, dyspepsia, and in many the power of the brain is impaired.

One thing is absolutely sure and incontrovertible—when such people use coffee, even in moderate quantities, for any extended time, the slight hurt to the system, added to day by day, will finally pile up an account that must be settled, physically, and the injury will generally locate and center in some one of the organs of the body.

Different people will be affected differently, but common sense should teach that if you have any sort of disease, or symptoms of disease, you should endeavor to locate the source and cause of that disease. It is not good reasoning to apply drugs in an effort to heal disease, and at the same time continue the use of some delectious article that not only caused the disease in the beginning, but maintains it from day to day and adds to the sufferer's

The true and only safe plan is to search for the cause and destroy it.
Then Nature itself endeavors to establish forces at work, and if the disease has not gone too long, one may expect a return of health. If the reader has any sort of physical ailment, and has been a user of coffee, let him experiment on himself by leaving off coffee for a period, say of two weeks or a month, and at the same time shift over to the use of Postum Cereal Food Coffee and take careful notice of the result.

Leaving off the coffee takes away the cause of disease that is established through the nervous system (when such disease has been caused by the use of coffee); the food elements contained in Postum Food Coffee go instantly to work to replenish and rebuild the delicate gray substance found in the nerve centers throughout the body.

It is well to remember that perfect health cannot be maintained when even a slight portion of this delicate substance is destroyed or lacking in the body. There is a true and scientific reason for this statement which can be easily proven by personal test.

Many people have been convinced of the fact that coffee is a poison to them, but have been unable to leave it off.
Such persons will find that they can make the change from ordinary coffee to Postum Food Coffee instantly, and the new coffee will supply the demand for the morning beverage, and the work of regeneration will begin in short order.

One thing must be carefully looked after, and that is to have the Postum Food Coffee boiled long enough to bring out the flavor and food elements.
When prepared like ordinary coffee, that is, by boiling a few moments, or no boiling at all, it will not furnish the palatable beverage that it does when about four heaping teaspoons to the pint of water are used, and after being on the stove long enough to come up to a boiling bubble, it be allowed to remain boiling, slowly but steadily, full fifteen minutes after the first bubbling is noticed. In no other way can good Postum Coffee be made, and it may be depended upon when made in this way. Many use a high pots to prevent it boiling over, and stir it down from time to time, in order to get the good from all the material.

If the reader can use health as a means for gaining wealth or fame, and for bringing about the state of physical and mental peace and happiness that comes from a perfectly poised condition of health, he can well afford to make this test, and make it at once.
Postum is sold by all first-class grocers everywhere. It is in packages protected by the famous seal and trademark.
